TEXTILE AWAKENING

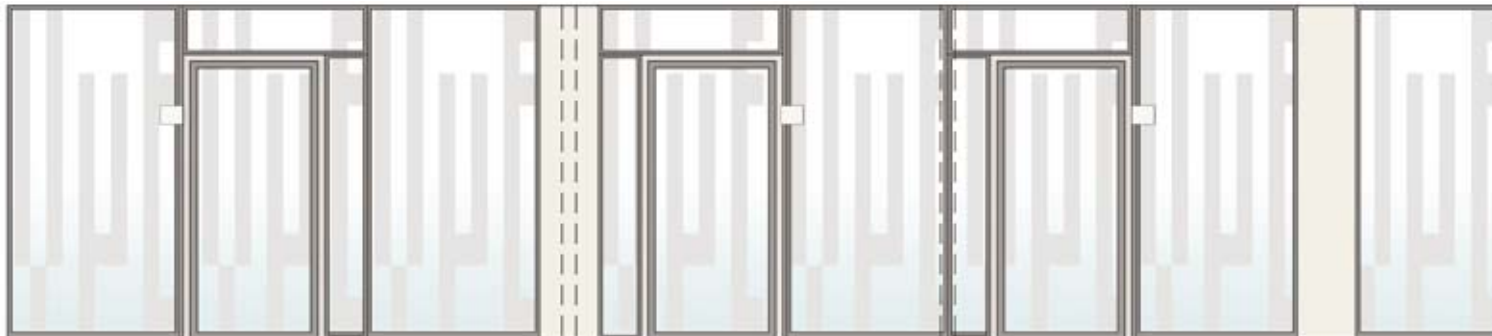

Fraunhofer-Institute, Berlin, Germany

Architects:
Tectur planung & projektsteuerung,
Berlin

Initial situation:
Expansion of office building space. One of the requirements most important to construction management was to maintain a good overview and ensure lightness in the open plan office.

Solution:
The use of glass partitions ensured acoustic separations within the open plan office. Nevertheless, cross-team cooperation continues to be possible. The textile surface of Gecko Crypta was used to establish an appealing contrast to the hard glass walls.

Products:
Gecko Crypta
