Initial situation:
The new building is uniquely transparent - which emphasizes its modern and innovative appearance. Particular importance was placed on ensuring an open space interior design - an acoustic challenge, given the exposed concrete ceiling.

Solution:
Colourful wall coverings with integrated acoustic insulation contribute significantly to the overall acoustics concept and ensure a pleasant office climate. Various colourful fabrics were used as part of the building orientation concept and reflected by means of the different furniture on the various floors as well as with corresponding partition coverings.
