

Private home, Bad-Homburg, Germany

Architect: Dipl.-Ing. Lore Wolfertz Architectural Practice, Bad-Homburg

Textile design:
Interior Coach, Brigitte Peter, Frankfurt

Starting point:
Textiles were used to improve the room acoustic and to provide colourful accents, matching the strong tones of the façade.

Solution:
A high level of shading can be achieved by the flexible overlay of twin-colour panels in the dining area. The three Cavallo panels in the living room are also used to darken the room so that images can be projected onto a screen and viewed at any time of day.

Gecko was used as a playful screen to provide privacy in the bathrooms, and the curtain in the bedroom is quite consciously hung on separate tracks so that the wonderful view can be enjoyed from all directions.

Jaspis, Cavallo Plus, Linn, Bonadea, GECKO Laser Quadro, GECKO IN THE
