TROPICAL MOUNTAINS

Tropenhaus AG, Frutigen, Switzerland

Architects:
Gauer Itten Messerli, Bern

Initial situation:
Visitors experience exotic vegetation in a tropical environment. The gastronomy and event area is enclosed by glass, which produces an even more conscious contrast to the snowy mountain peaks. The large space had to be sub-divided and separated by something that would carry out its function simply, but would also be flexible.

Solution:
Roller blinds were used for visual screening in the restaurants and Event Zone, with panel curtains added as decorative elements. The wave-shaped fabric panels in the children's mini-lounge looked special and highly attractive, but they also acted as anti-glare shades.
