A REST FROM THE BIG CITY

Escaping the scarce housing situation in Japan's big cities.

Object

Private residence, Kamakura, Kanagawa, Japan

SITUATION

The hectic pace of Japan's big cities, where living space is in short supply, was the reason why creating openness and peacefulness was a priority for this private residence. The rooms are characterised by their generous sizes and the brightness that enters through their large windows.

SOLUTION

The SPECTRA vertical blinds have been liberally installed in the different rooms. They impress with their simple design and barely visible mounting system, so they harmoniously blend in with the room or serve as excellent visual protection at discretion.
